

Copy this folder onto your C drive

This folder is the empty skeleton of your AI POS — every folder inside is already named correctly.

What to do — about 2 minutes

1. Copy this whole folder onto your C drive. A good home is your user folder: `C:\Users\YourName\`. (On a Mac, your home folder or Documents is fine.)
2. Rename it to `AI Access`. That's the recommended name. Prefer something personal? Do what Mo did and call it `Your Name's AI Access` — just remember the name you chose, you'll point your AI at this folder later.
3. Go back to the Start Here roadmap (`0 - Start Here`) and carry on from the Identity step.

That's the whole "create your folder structure" step done. Because these folders are already named correctly, the paths will match the boot file you create later — so nothing breaks.

The small "about this folder" notes inside each folder just explain what lives there. Delete them (and this file) once you have your own files in place.
